Creating Luminous Watercolor Landscapes: A Four-Step Process

This book, written by Sterling Edwards and published by North Light Books, takes you through the process of painting watercolor landscapes that are full of light using transparent watercolors. Sterling shows you a four step process that he developed several years ago to help you save white paper, add rich darks, and break the painting process down into four easy to understand steps. The hardcover book is 144 pages with numerous color photographs and step by step demonstrations. It doesn't matter what skill level you consider yourself, you'll find lots of useful information in this book. You'll even get a free 32 minute DVD that illustrates Sterling's four step process.

Sterling will personalize all books in the name of the person ordering unless instructed otherwise.
